Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C.

112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, lines 7-10, the phrase “a second sheet having a first planar side and a second planar side oppositely juxtaposed to one another wherein more than one sheet align to create an image encompassing more than one of the garage door panels” is indefinite because it is unclear if the “more than one sheet align to create an image” refers to the first sheet or the second sheet.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 8, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Johnson, U. S. Patent 6,572,238.

5. Johnson teaches an illuminated decorative garage door panel system comprising a plurality of panels 3-6. Each panel has a partial portion of an overall image on its front surface, such as the Christmas tree seen in figure 1 and a magnet on its rear surface for attaching the panel to a metallic garage door. See column 5, lines 7-21.

In addition, each panel has a receptacles 7 affixed to the front surface for holding lights 8 as part of the display. See column 4, lines 10-12.

With respect to claims 5-6, Johnson also teaches a lights can be reflector type lights that do not require power to be illuminated. See column 2, lines 64-65.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Coleman in view of Vella, U. S. Patent 2005/005921.
8. Vella teaches a magnetic pad for attachment to a garage door. The pad comprises a sheet having a first side having magnetic material thereon and a second side having graphics thereon. The graphic surface has colors applied by means of screen-print, digital print, paint, stencil, ink, or vinyl film. Vella also teaches a protective layer 60 on top of the graphic to protect the graphics from the environments.
9. With respect to claims 1 and 10, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to construct the decorative garage door system taught by Johnson made of a magnetic sheet having graphic on the front side to provide an unitary display panel.
10. With respect to claim 3, 7, 14, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time this invention was made to construct the decorative garage door system taught by Johnson with a protective coating as taught by Vella to provide a means to protect the graphic disposed on the front surface of the panels.
11. With respect to claims 15-20, the method limitations are inherent from the teaching of Johnson.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Ogden, U. S. Patent 2004/0181985 is cited to show a magnetic display attached to a door.
